

LIBRARY OFFERS FREE SUMMER TUTORING

The Peabody Institute Library is proud to announce the development of a brand new, FREE, summer academic enrichment program. The Peabody Volunteer Tutoring Organization (PVTO) is the brainchild of recent PVMHS alumni who are pursuing degrees at various universities and are eager to promote the value of education to the current generation of students in Peabody Public Schools. Over the course of six weeks, the PVTO will host summer tutoring in mathematics, English literature, social studies, and science for all students grades 1-12.

In addition to these free group tutoring sessions, the Peabody Institute Library is excited to also provide FREE lunches for children and teens every Monday through Thursday through the library's Summer Food Service Program, sponsored by Haven from Hunger, DESE and the USDA. All children and teens are welcome to have lunch at the library, whether they're participating in PVTO classes or just spending the day at the library!

For more information about the PVTO, please visit our Facebook page at www.facebook.com/PeabodyVolunteerTutors or read our attached information guide!
